

SUP LEASHES

ANATOMY OF A STAND UP PADDLEBOARD

LEASHES

A leash connects you to your board with an ankle strap. A leash is such a KEY piece of safety equipment in most, but not all environments.

HYBRID LEASH

COILED LEASH

STRAIGHT LEASH

KNOWING WHAT LEASH TO USE

SUP surfing in the ocean, use a straight leash.

Even in flat lakes, tidal areas, or slow moving rivers, a coiled or hybrid leash can save you from being separated from your board.

When paddling a SUP in whitewater or moving water rivers, you run the risk of your leash getting snagged on rocks, branches, or the shore. If you make an informed and educated decision to wear a leash in these environments, make sure to wear a waist-mounted leash that has a quick-release mechanism that is reachable with both hands.
