ACA Policy
Conflict of Interest

ENC-002 Rev-3
9/7/2022

AMERICAN CANOE ASSOCIATION (ACA)

POLICY TYPE: Ethics and Conduct

POLICY NUMBER: ENC-002

POLICY TITLE: Conflict of Interest

REVISION: 3

ORIGINAL: 4/17/2013

DRAFT:

REVISED: 9/7/2022

The legal definition of conflict of interest, usually set out in state laws governing non-profit corporations, is very specific, and covers relatively few situations. Most conflicts fall into a gray area where ethics and public perception are more relevant than statutes or precedents. Conflict of interest arises whenever the personal or professional interests of a decisionmaker are potentially at odds with the best interests of the Association. Loss of public confidence and a damaged reputation are the most likely results of a poorly managed conflict of interest.

www.BoardSource.org

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to protect the interests of the American Canoe Association (“Association” or “ACA”), its affiliates and members whenever the ACA is contemplating entering into a transaction or arrangement that might benefit the private interest of a decisionmaker (officer, Board member, division officer, employee, etc.) of the ACA.

This policy is intended to supplement but not replace any applicable state laws governing conflicts of interest applicable to nonprofit organizations that generally pertain to financial conflicts contributing to personal aggrandizement.

Conflicts of interest are inevitable, and most are not inherently improper if properly disclosed, reviewed and the conflicted individual removed or recused from the decision-processes pertinent to the situation(s), transaction(s) and/or person(s) of conflict.

Policy

Decisionmakers of the Association have a responsibility to avoid both actual and perceived conflicts of interest in the course of their decision making roles. These persons:

- Have a duty to act in the best interest of the organization and to perform their duties honestly, responsibly and in good faith,

- Should not use their position with the organization for personal gain and should exercise particular care so that no detriment to the organization results from conflicts between the individual's interests and those of the organization,
- Are to annually review this policy regarding their personal commitments and disclose any known relationships/transactions as defined in this policy, and
- Have a duty to remove or recuse themselves from the decision making process when topics arise where conflict or perceived conflict exists regardless of whether formal disclosure has taken place.

Should any Board member, division officer, committee member, or ACA employee become aware of any undisclosed conflict of interest, or any conflict of interest not fully disclosed, such person should make full disclosure of their knowledge of the conflict of interest involved to the Executive Director and his/her proxy such as the Compliance Manager.

The Executive Director or his/her proxy will review potential conflicts and prescribe necessary steps to be taken by the decisionmaker and the organization to mitigate any risks associated with a conflict. If the conflicted person is a member of the Board of Directors, then the Executive Director will share this information directly and immediately with the Board of Directors and will request that the member recuse himself or herself from the review.

Parties Required to Disclose:

On an annual basis all decisionmakers, including all members of the Board of Directors and employees of the Association shall review this policy and complete the Conflict of Interest Questionnaire ("COIQ") and, if applicable, the Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form ("COIDF").

All candidates for elected office shall review this policy and complete a COIQ and COIDF immediately upon acceptance of their nomination and return it to the Chair of the Nominating Committee with a copy to the Executive Director and his/her proxy, such as the Compliance Manager, for review and disposition.

All new appointees and new hires to decision making positions shall review this policy and complete a new or updated conflict of Interest Questionnaire and/or Disclosure form within 30 days of taking a position.

Decisionmakers who are responsible for the creation or enforcement of selection procedures as well as panels empowered to resolve grievances must review and complete the COIQ and, if applicable, the COIDF. If the individual has already completed a form, then they are to review the questionnaire and disclosure form and ensure there has been no change in status.

Should their personal situation change, decisionmakers are required within 30 days of such change to obtain, complete, and submit an updated Conflict of Interest Disclosure form.

All COIQ and COIDF shall be submitted to the Executive Director and his/her proxy, such as the Compliance Manager. One of these persons will conduct a preliminary review of the COIQs and COIDFs to determine which parties have disclosed conflicts of interest and which parties have not.

Review Process:

The ACA's Board of Directors is ultimately responsible for determining the existence and extent of a decisionmaker's conflict of interest and its potential impact on the Association, its governance and on deliberation over associated transactions and arrangements. If an Ethics Committee has been established, the Board may choose to delegate the responsibility for maintaining this policy and reviewing and managing disclosed conflicts of interest to the Ethics Committee.

In the absence of a formal Ethics Committee, all duties (other than the initial disclosure review conducted by the ED and his/her proxy) related to members of the Board of Directors' disclosures shall be completed by the Board of Directors. All duties related to other decisionmakers shall be completed by the Executive Director and his/her proxy such as the Compliance Manager. Please note: for the purposes of this policy, any reference to the Ethics Committee is only applicable if a formal Ethics Committee exists. Otherwise, the term refers to (1) the Board of Directors for Board member and Executive Director disclosures, or (2) the Executive Director or his/her proxy for all other decisionmaker disclosures.

The Ethics Committee will annually review all Disclosure responses to determine the possibility, existence, and impact of conflicts of interest. For Board Members and the Executive Director, the Ethics Committee or Executive Director will provide a summary report to the Board of Directors along with recommendations for addressing potential conflicts (such as removal from deliberation, recusal from voting or other actions).

Should the Ethics Committee, Board of Directors, or Executive Director wish to further investigate any significant instances, the decisionmaker shall provide full details to the Ethics Committee, Board of Directors or Executive Director describing all of the material facts involved with significant transactions, including a full disclosure of any and all benefits that the decisionmaker may have in such transactions. The reviewers may use outside experts if it feels those are prudent in the conduct of its investigations.

For any instance where a significant issue conflict of interest is encountered, the Ethics Committee, Executive Director and Board of Directors shall make (where appropriate, confidential) a decision to either maintain and advise, alter and advise, or restructure the relationship, taking into consideration the best interests of the Association.

Board Actions

Where appropriate, the Executive Director may escalate concerns regarding any decisionmaker's conflicts of interest by notifying the President and Secretary of the BOD. The President will decide, in his or her sole discretion, when to bring such matters to the attention of the full Board for their review, discussion, and disposition.

Where appropriate, the Board may meet in closed session to review specific instances of significant conflict. The decisionmaker involved may be present to offer information and rebuttal, but no Board member involved in an instance of significant conflict shall contribute to deliberation or decisions in their own or others conflict of interest.

Issues of significant conflict shall be decided in terms of maintaining the relationship with advice, modifying the relationship, restructuring the relationship, or removing the conflict. The affected decisionmaker shall have the opportunity to make rebuttal and have input into this decision.

Violations of Policy

If the Board develops reasonable cause to believe that a decisionmaker has failed to disclose actual or perceived conflicts of interests, it shall inform the person of the basis of such belief and afford the person an opportunity to explain the alleged failure to disclose.

If an instance of conflict arises during a Board or division, council or committee meeting the following procedure should be followed:

- a. Any participant may bring a "point-of-order" motion if they believe that another participant is deliberating or voting on an issue that would constitute a conflict of interest.
- b. The person chairing the meeting (i.e. the President in the case of a Board meeting) shall offer the questioned member the opportunity to rebut the potential conflict. The chairperson may offer the member the opportunity to voluntarily recuse him or herself. Failing this the chairperson shall rule if the member may advise or vote on the issue.
- c. If the chairperson rules that the member will not vote, that participant may bring an "appeal" motion. This motion does not require a second.
- d. The full meeting or a quorum thereof shall, by a majority vote, decide whether the perceived conflict is such that the participant in question must remove or recuse themselves from deliberation and voting.

Issues of significant conflict of interest that cannot be resolved through above procedures by the Ethics Committee and Board and any issues that involve apparent violations of prevailing Nonprofit law shall be referred to outside legal counsel.

Examples of Conflict

- A conflict of interest may exist if a coach has a relationship with an athlete that is outside of the normal coach-athlete relationship. This would include friendships and individuals who interact with each other outside of the scope of the ACA.
- A conflict of interest may exist if a member of the Board of Directors has a family member who could benefit directly from a decision made by the Board.

Record Keeping

The Board, divisions, councils and committees of the ACA shall keep records of its meetings, especially where decisions are taken affecting the Association. These records shall include records of removal or recusal in cases of conflict of interest, especially any instance where perceived conflict of interest is deliberated and decided and shall include the names and positions of any members, officers or staff that are found to have perceived or real conflict of interest.

All such instances shall be reported to the Board.

Anti-retaliation:

The ACA has zero tolerance for retaliation against people who make good faith reports of potential ethical, policy, or legal violations, or who cooperate with investigations of those reports. That means no ACA staff, Board/Committee member, or volunteer may threaten, harass, discriminate against, or take any negative action (e.g., discharge, demotion, suspension, negative review) on that basis.
